About Me

Tawfik Abeid is a dedicated third-year Law student at Cairo University with a proven commitment to academic excellence and professional development. He has consistently achieved high grades throughout his studies and is passionate about gaining practical experience in various legal and business fields.

Tawfik has participated in the prestigious Aspire Leaders Program, designed by Harvard professors, where he developed critical leadership, communication, and strategic thinking skills. This program provided him with deep insights into how trust, context, and emerging technologies play a role in leadership and decision-making.

He has also completed an intensive retail sales training with iCareer, gaining hands-on experience in client interaction, negotiation, and building a personal brand. These skills are essential as he continues to explore opportunities in law and related fields.

Tawfik is particularly interested in the intersection of law and technology, especially artificial intelligence, and is currently studying this area to remain competitive in a rapidly evolving job market.

His strong skills in teamwork, problem-solving, and effective communication, combined with a commitment to continuous learning, empower him to contribute meaningfully in collaborative environments and drive positive outcomes in any organization he joins.
